Program Description

Hello, DC parent. Community Based Instruction Services, Inc. (CBIS) is a not-for-profit corporation established for educational purposes in Washington, DC, nearly 30 years ago. Our purpose is to effectively tutor every student that we serve and provide their parents with the respectful support and resources needed to help in their child's educational progress and make their learning experience enjoyable and successful. CBIS specializes in providing individual and small group tutoring services. CBIS believes that learning is fun and terrific. We also think that every child can learn, grow and possesses their own individual learning style. Some favor seeing information, others prefer hearing it, while still others want to touch it. With this in mind, we customize and craft our learning materials (drills, exercises, etc.) to the unique educational needs of your child, whenever possible.
